Four strong winds that blow
lonely,
Seven seas that run high
All these things that don't change
Come what may
But our good times are all gone
And I'm bound for moving on.
I'll look for you if I'm ever back this way
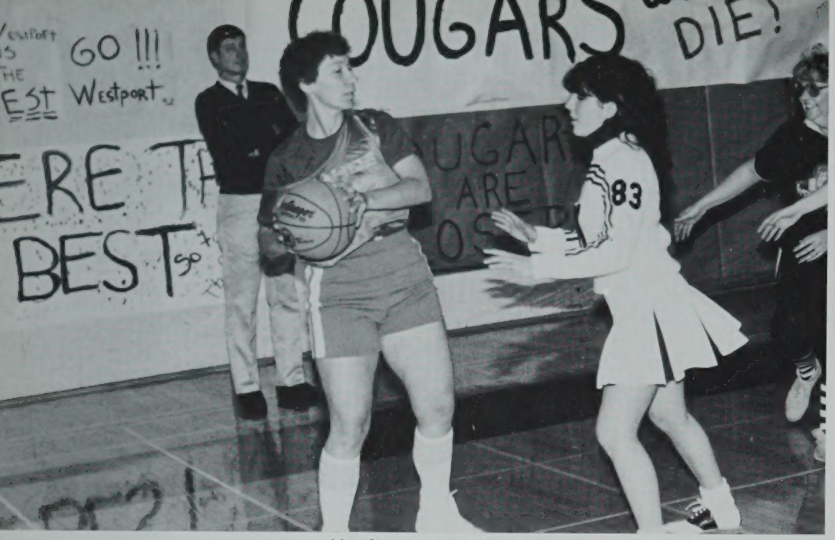
— Judy Collins



Miss Choquette and Karen F.

Karen G., Barbara, Mickey S.

No one was left out of the excitement during Spirit Week. Even those who chose not to participate had lots of laughs.

Joe " " Day opened many closets and subjected WHS to somewhat bizarre ideas. Among them were Joe "Slob," Joe "Cool," Joe "Priest," and Joe "Punk Rocker."

Other spirit days were P.J. Day and Hat, Tie and Sunglasses Day.

"Rowdy" was the word for Friday when spirit reached its peak during Brown and White Day. The Pep Rally had everyone's confidence and morale soaring.

Thanks to Sue Martin and mom the Wildcat made its debut in the pep rally with Robyn Berube as its soul. Our new found mascot came along to all the boy's basketball games to provide moral support, help relieve some of the pressure, and psyche up the fans. Most of all we'd like to thank Brad Alves and Cindy Carreiro for devoting their time and effort into being the "Wildcat."

FIRST CHAOS, THEN PROM NIGHT

Total chaos struck at 11:00 June 6 when Jrs. were dismissed from school to begin preparation for the Prom. Flowers and tuxes were picked by the guys while the ladies were frantic using rollers and curling irons.

The confusion and rush of the afternoon mellowed out around 7:00 as couples began arriving at the Coachman in anything from mom and dad's car to a chauffered limousine.

Most girls preferred the Southern belle look complete with crinolines and gloves, while most guys wore tuxedoes with tails.

Everyone looked really nice and had a terrific time.

After dinner was through, prom-goers danced to the theme song "Against All Odds." '85

Yesterday is already a dream and tomorrow is only a vision. But today well-lived makes every yesterday a dream of happiness and every tomorrow a vision of hope . . . go confidently in the direction of your dreams!

All things must pass
All things must pass away
All things must pass
None of life's strings can last
So — I must be on my way . . .
and face another day.

This Page is dedicated to Mr. Melli and Ms. MacDonald

This page is dedicated to our class advisor and our friend Mr. Melli. We have all needed you at one time or another in our four years at Westport High and you have always found the time to help us. For all your help and patience we thank you. To the class of 1986 you are not only our advisor, you are our very dear friend.

We also dedicate this page to our yearbook advisor Ms. MacDonald. For all your patience and understanding during this year and the years that have passed. You were always there to listen to our suggestions — however different they were. We could always count on you to make us laugh when things weren't going too well. For all your help and friendship, the class of 1986 thanks you.

CLASS HISTORY

I. Chronology

1982-83. Yard, craft, and candy sale. Supermarket sweepstakes. Spaghetti supper. Second place in spirit link contest.

1983-84. Class trip to Frank Davis Resort. Spaghetti supper. detergent, candy and Christmas card sale. Ring Dance — first class dance in the last 47 years. Soccer team reaches state tournament, first time since 1975.

1984-85. Junior prom at Coachman's Restaurant in June. First mid-year class trip to Science Museum and Quincy Market. Snowball dance. Trip to Frank Davis resort. Almost Anything Goes show. Chaos erupts at Halloween Ghoulash in October.

1985-86. Candy Sale. Inservice Day Buffet for teachers. Senior Prom at the Sheraton Islander.

II. Background

A history of a class is a combination of the characteristics of four successive years, and therefore belongs to the composite order of architecture. The conscientious historian is obliged to record the most significant events in that order, and pass, with a smile, over the majority of the remaining incidents to be covered up by the silt of time. Most would prefer this anyway; but the feeble paragraphs here presented will serve as an indispensable guide through the tumultuous range of four years' experience.

The origins of the class of 1986 began on August 31, 1982; all events date from this seminal beginning. From the start, the class of 1986 seemed pre-destined for greatness in the annals of Westport High School. This was evidenced by a strong participation in extracurricular activities, a feeling of commonality among students, and a strong class spirit. It is also a credit to the class that several ambitious fund raising activities were accomplished without the aid of a class advisor or an electric typewriter. The organizers of these vital events deserve much credit for starting a great candy sale which ended only after the supply of plastics bags ran out. On the whole, the freshman year appears to us now as an endless procession of ignorance, and it probably was. Memorable events included the havoc in second period freshman study hall, where one student was reportedly relocated twenty-nine times during the year.

A sophomore is traditionally characterized by a confident exterior and a greenness behind the ears. By common consent, the class of 1986 agrees it did not fit this mode. High enthusiasm was a sign of pre-destined prominence. The soccer team, for the first time in anyone's memory, reached the state tournament; the basketball team's record was impeccable; and the volleyball crowd spiked home yet another brilliant season. But for what, besides an increased lunch price and a functional heating system, can the class of 1986 actually receive credit? When in the fall of 1983 the annual pep rally began, all expected the senior class to triumph as it traditionally does; and while the upperclassmen supinely rallied their forces, we slowly gained momentum. As the decisive date approached, a feverish tension gripped the school. Then in a startling upset, the sophomore class decisively crushed all opposition and won the entire spirit contest.

Most students consider their junior year as a time of progress, reconciliation, and preparation; and the majority will agree that it remains one of the finest. That great gulf between dawn and sunset had, at long last, been narrowed by the passage of time! The addition of walls to the science and English departments, and another strong showing in the pep rally deserve passing mention. For most of us this year represented a culmination of our high school experiences and a brief lull before the onslaught of new decisions and responsibilities.

And now we have arrived. We have entered as freshmen, anxious, uncertain, and filled with ideas of our intended course of action; we have witnessed the passage of four years of our lives in which personal development and understanding have played decisive roles; and finally we have emerged as a class which has doggedly conquered the trial of high school years. This is a sketch of our experiences at Westport High School from 1982 to 1986. Let memory and perspective fill in the rest.
